SECTION A: COMPREHENSION

QUESTION 1: READING FOR MEANING AND UNDERSTANDING

Read TEXT A below and answer the questions that follow.

TEXT A: THE GARDEN ON THE ROOF

1 When Lerato Mokoena started Grade 10 at Thuto High School, the flat roof above the library was a place nobody visited. Broken desks, empty paint tins and a family of pigeons had claimed it. "It was the ugliest part of the school," she says, laughing. "Which is exactly why I wanted it."

2 Lerato had grown up helping her grandmother grow spinach, tomatoes and onions in a small backyard in Soshanguve. She knew that many learners at her school came to class hungry. In winter, some arrived without having eaten since lunch the day before. "You cannot learn algebra on an empty stomach," her grandmother always said.

3 With the principal's permission, Lerato and four friends spent three weekends clearing the roof. They carried the rubbish down sixty-two stairs, one load at a time. A local hardware shop donated old crates, and a parent who works as a plumber connected a pipe to collect rainwater from the gutters. Within two months, the first green leaves appeared.

4 Not everyone believed in the project at first. Some teachers worried that the roof was unsafe, and a few learners mocked the "farmers" for getting their school shoes dirty. Lerato did not argue. Instead, she invited the doubters to help harvest the first crop. Once they had tasted spinach they had grown themselves, many of them stayed.

5 Today the Roof Garden Club has forty members. Every Friday they harvest vegetables, which the school kitchen adds to the lunch served to learners. Leftover seedlings are sold to parents, and the money buys seeds, compost and gloves. The club has also started a waiting list, because there is not enough space on the roof for everyone who wants to join.

6 Lerato, now in Grade 11, believes the garden has taught her more than how to grow food. "I learnt that people follow what they can see," she says. "If I had only talked about a garden, nobody would have come. When they saw the first leaves, they believed." Her next plan is bigger: she wants every school in the district to have a garden, on the ground or on the roof.

1.1 Describe the roof above the library before Lerato's project began. Give TWO details. (2)

1.2 Explain why Lerato says the ugliness of the roof was "exactly why I wanted it" (paragraph 1). (2)

1.3 Refer to paragraph 2. Where did Lerato learn to grow vegetables? (1)

1.4 Explain what Lerato's grandmother meant by: "You cannot learn algebra on an empty stomach". (2)

1.5 Refer to paragraph 3. Name THREE ways in which the community helped the project. (3)

1.6 Why do you think the writer mentions that the learners carried the rubbish down "sixty-two stairs, one load at a time"? (2)

1.7 Choose the correct answer. Write only the letter. In paragraph 4, the word "mocked" means … (1)
A praised. B made fun of. C helped. D ignored.

1.8 How did Lerato deal with the people who doubted the project? Do you think this was a good way? Explain your answer. (3)

1.9 Refer to paragraph 5. Explain how the club pays for its seeds and gloves. (2)

1.10 State whether the following statement is TRUE or FALSE. Quote FIVE consecutive words to support your answer: The club has room for everyone who wants to join. (2)

1.11 Lerato says: "people follow what they can see" (paragraph 6). Explain what she means in your own words. (2)

1.12 Give a suitable synonym (a word with the same meaning) for "donated" in paragraph 3. (1)

1.13 Identify the tone of Lerato's words in paragraph 6. Give ONE word. (1)

1.14 Do you think the title "The Garden on the Roof" suits the text? Give a reason for your answer. (2)

1.15 Would you join a project like this at your school? Give TWO reasons for your answer. (4)

SECTION B: SUMMARY

QUESTION 2: SUMMARISING IN YOUR OWN WORDS

Read TEXT B below. List SEVEN tips for saving water at home, in your own words. Write in full sentences, in point form, numbered 1 to 7. Your summary must not be more than 70 words. Indicate the number of words you have used in brackets at the end of your summary.

TEXT B: EVERY DROP COUNTS

South Africa is a dry country, and many towns have faced water shortages in recent years. The good news is that every household can help. The easiest place to start is the bathroom. A short shower of four minutes uses far less water than a full bath, so showers should replace baths whenever possible. While you brush your teeth, turn off the tap; a running tap can waste up to six litres a minute.

Leaks are silent thieves. A dripping tap or a running toilet can waste thousands of litres in a month, so fix them as soon as you notice them. In the kitchen, wash dishes in a basin instead of under running water, and only run a washing machine when it is full.

Outside, the time of day matters. Water the garden early in the morning or in the evening, when less water evaporates in the sun. If you can, place a bucket or tank under the gutter to collect rainwater, which plants actually prefer. Finally, the water you used to rinse vegetables does not have to go down the drain: pour it onto your plants instead.
