INFORMATION FOR EXAMINERS

1. Examiners are reminded that the subject Life Orientation lends itself to broad interpretation and therefore a broad range of answers.

2. The marking memorandum serves as a guideline to markers/examiners and is not intended to be absolute or prescriptive.

3. Answers provided by students should also be assessed within the context of the students' life experiences.

4. Content should be marked and not grammar.

5. Avoid allocating marks where a student merely repeats the question instead of giving an answer.
