MARKING GUIDELINES FOR MARKERS

1. Markers are reminded that some aspects of the subject Life Orientation can be interpreted broadly, and therefore different answers may be given. The marking guideline is not intended to be absolute or prescriptive. However, answers that are factually incorrect should never be marked as correct. Markers are requested to be careful to not donate marks where not deserved.

2. Markers are requested to use their discretion when marking. Answers provided by students should also be assessed within the context of the students' experience of life.

3. Content should be marked and not grammar and spelling.

4. For some questions, a number of example answers are given. These serve as a guide for what type of response is required. Markers are requested to carefully work through all the different answers to get a sense of what type of answer is acceptable, and what is not acceptable.

5. For some answers, markers are guided by additional statements. Please read these carefully. If all markers follow the same marking method, consistency across marking centres is achievable.

6. Markers are requested to carefully check the mark allocation per question and mark strictly according to the mark allocation.

   Also, please note:

   (2 × 1) means there should be TWO answers and ONE mark allocated per answer.

   (1 × 2) means that TWO marks are allocated for ONE answer.

7. Where students are required to write a paragraph, or to describe, discuss, explain, compare, advise or suggest, one-word answers CANNOT be accepted, and should NOT be marked.

8. Thank you for marking carefully, rigorously and fairly. Your maintaining a high standard helps to enhance the status of this very important subject Life Orientation.

SECTION C

QUESTION 9

9.1
- Peer pressure
- Parental influence/parents are smokers
- Risk-taking behaviour is common at that age
- They see actors smoking in films and on TV
- Misinformation about smoking/not aware of the harm
- Imagined stress relief
- They think it is cool to smoke (2 × 1) (2)

9.2 While smoking may make you think you feel calmer, it actually increases the level of stress in your body. Smoking causes negative reactions such as an increase in blood pressure, an increase in heart rate, tensed muscles, constricted blood vessels and a decrease of oxygen available to the brain and body to help with coping skills. ✓ When you smoke, nicotine enters your bloodstream and travels to your brain, where it releases several neurotransmitters including dopamine, the primary reward chemical in the brain. ✓ The positive feelings you experience when dopamine is released are short-lived. Once the dopamine levels decrease, you'll feel worse than before you lit up. ✓ Smokers tend to increase their cigarette use when under pressure. This costs money and leads to serious diseases. ✓ The nicotine in cigarettes is addictive; addiction causes stress. ✓ The thought of damaged health makes you worry more about your health. If you do not have a cigarette it makes you feel irritable; smokers feel more stress if they do not smoke and hence smoking causes anxiety. ✓

- Do not allocate marks if the answer is not in a paragraph.
- Allocate ONE mark per idea/sentence.
- Do not allocate marks for repeated sentences.
- Please read this paragraph carefully to see what the answers can include. (6 × 1) (6)
