higher education & training

Department:
Higher Education and Training
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

MARKING GUIDELINE

NATIONAL CERTIFICATE (VOCATIONAL)

CONSUMER BEHAVIOUR
NQF LEVEL 2

22 NOVEMBER 2019

This marking guideline consists of 6 pages.

Copyright reserved

SECTION A

QUESTION 1

1.1 Jargon
1.2 Manufacturer
1.3 Demographic
1.4 Niche market
1.5 Panel
1.6 Functional
1.7 Household
1.8 Direct
1.9 Publicity
1.10 Lever-arch

(10 × 1) [10]

QUESTION 2

2.1 False
2.2 False
2.3 False
2.4 True
2.5 False
2.6 True
2.7 False
2.8 True
2.9 True
2.10 True

(10 × 1) [10]

QUESTION 3

3.1 D
3.2 G
3.3 A
3.4 H
3.5 I
3.6 B
3.7 J
3.8 C
3.9 F
3.10 K

(10 × 1) [10]

TOTAL SECTION A: 30

Copyright reserved

QUESTION 4

4.1
- Alphabetical filing
- Date filling (2)

4.2
- A consumer panel is a group of people with specialist knowledge who can give advice or opinion on a particular subject.
- A focus group is a small group of people that a marketer questions to find out what they think about a product.
- A questionnaire is a list of questions that marketers ask. (3 × 2) (6)

4.3 Information must be repeated so that the customer can verify the correctness. (2)

4.4
- Consumer profiles
- Data base (2)

4.5
- Production
- Finance
- Marketing
- Administration
- Supply
- Retailer
- Client service (Any 4 × 1) (4)

4.6
- Check the folder in which the missing paper is supposed to be.
- Check the unfiled papers in the sorting basket.
- Look in the cabinet drawer.
- Check the spelling of the name or folders with similar headings.
- Ask employer to check desk or briefcase.
- Check when the paper was last handled, and by whom.
- Keep on searching. (7)

4.7
- Suspension
- Clip folder
- Lever arch
- Box
- Cardboard (Any 4 × 1) (4)

4.8 Consumers use products or services that are good and that provide value for money.✓ They therefore strengthen the economy by supporting companies that will survive and grow in the long term.✓ Companies that do not treat customers properly or fail to deliver good products and services do not contribute to the economy.✓ (Any relevant answer) (3)

[30]

QUESTION 5

5.1 5.1.1 Consumer goods
5.1.2 Routine goods
5.1.3 Shopping goods
5.1.4 Commercial services
5.1.5 Emergency goods

(5 × 1) (5)

5.2 5.2.1 Supply and demand determine price.✓✓ If there is a large supply of products retailers use price to draw consumers to their outlets.✓✓ This is mostly done by offering a price that is lower than that of competitors or offering discounts on a product.✓✓ (3 × 2) (6)

5.2.2 If there is a limited supply of a product, there is more demand than supply.✓ Consumers are therefore willing to pay a higher price to obtain the product.✓ (2)

5.2.3 Cheaper goods are sold in more casual markets with less emphasis on security or customer care.✓✓ If goods are expensive, the consumer expects to be treated differently.✓✓ The environment created by the seller will be determined by the cost and rarity of the goods.✓✓ (3 × 2) (6)

5.3 5.3.1 Industrial consumer
5.3.2 Institutional consumer
5.3.3 State consumer

(3 × 1) (3)

5.4
- To know the market
- To decide which segment to target
- To develop a clear positioning strategy to make their products
- To know how consumers behave (4 × 2) (8)

[30]

QUESTION 6

6.1 Correspondence and other documents are kept on computers instead of using a paper-based storage system. (2)

6.2 6.2.1 Open-ended
6.2.2 Closed
6.2.3 Hypothetical
6.2.4 Leading

(4 × 1) (4)

6.3
- Use plain language.
- Give information that is appropriate and relevant.
- Check that the customer has understood by asking different open-ended questions.
- Give the customer a choice and explain the different options.
- Come to an agreement with the customer.
- Follow company procedure. (6)

6.4 It helps to remember what was said✓ and agreed on.✓ It is necessary to remember information such as names, dates, amount of money and the decision taken.✓ (3)

6.5
- Complex buying occurs when consumers buy something expensive that needs to last a long time.
- Repeat buying occurs when consumers repeatedly buy the same brand of a product.
- Habitual buying occurs when consumers buy a product or service without actually being interested in the brand.
- Variety-seeking consumers get bored with a brand and want to try something new.
- Impulsive buying means consumers buy something on the spur of the moment. (5 × 2) (10)

6.6
- May be confidential
- Financially valuable
- May outline future plans
- May contain legal documents
- May give access to other information to competitor information

(Any relevant 5 × 1) (5)
[30]

QUESTION 7

7.1
- Vault
- Locked drawers or cupboard
- Safe room
- Computer system protected with an access password (Any 3 × 1) (3)

7.2 The company could feel vulnerable.✓ The company could lose business.✓ The company could develop a culture of mistrust.✓ (3)

7.3
- Ensures consistency and standardised processes
- Eases replication and organised growth
- Reduces the learning curve for new employees and facilitates increased productivity
- Delegates tasks and ensures business continuity (Any 3 × 2) (6)

7.4
- Office files
- Computer files (2 × 1) (2)

7.5
- Could be influenced by the researcher or his or her own reading of the group's discussion, raising questions of validity
- External validity, especially the reactive effects of the testing arrangement.
- Group think
- Social desirability bias
- Could want to please rather than give own opinion. (5 × 2) (10)

7.6
- Reference groups have potential in forming a person's attitude or behaviour. The impact of reference groups varies across products and brands.
- Buyer behaviour is strongly influenced by family members. Buying roles change with change in consumer lifestyles.
- Each person possesses different roles and status in the society depending upon the groups, clubs, family or organisation to which he/she belongs.
- Personal factors such as lifestyle, economic situation, occupation, age, personality and self-concept can also affect consumer behaviour.
- Age and life-cycle influence the buying behaviour of consumers. A family life-cycle consists of different stages such as young singles, married couples and unmarried couples. (Any relevant 3 × 2) (6)

[30]

TOTAL SECTION B: 120
GRAND TOTAL: 150

Copyright reserved