higher education & training

Department:
Higher Education and Training
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

MARKING GUIDELINE

NATIONAL CERTIFICATE (VOCATIONAL)

CONSUMER BEHAVIOUR
NQF LEVEL 3

21 NOVEMBER 2019

This marking guideline consists of 7 pages.

Copyright reserved

SECTION A

QUESTION 1

1.1	1.1.1	M
	1.1.2	P
	1.1.3	I
	1.1.4	A
	1.1.5	K
	1.1.6	B
	1.1.7	D
	1.1.8	F
	1.1.9	O
	1.1.10	J
	1.1.11	G
	1.1.12	Q
	1.1.13	L
	1.1.14	N
	1.1.15	H

(15 × 1) (15)

1.2	1.2.1	False
	1.2.2	False
	1.2.3	True
	1.2.4	False
	1.2.5	True
	1.2.6	True
	1.2.7	True
	1.2.8	False
	1.2.9	False
	1.2.10	False
	1.2 11	False
	1.2.12	True
	1.1.13	True
	1.1.14	False
	1.2.15	True

(15 × 1) (15)
[30]

TOTAL SECTION A: 30

Copyright reserved

SECTION B

QUESTION 2

2.1 2.2.1 Product positioning refers to a process by which an organisation positions its products in the mind of consumers✓ compared to competing products.✓

2.2.2 Consumer perception refers to the picture or beliefs the consumer has about a particular organisation, product or brand.✓✓

(2 × 2) (4)

2.2 2.2.1 Gas heater – high quality, saves electricity, high risk

2.2.2 PEP stores – cheap clothes, low quality

2.2.3 Mercedes Benz – expensive, cream brand, luxury car, comfortable, for status.

(3 × 1) (3)

2.3
- To make sure that competitors will not take over the organisation's market share.
- So that the firm cannot be pushed into a position where it has to sell products for which there is little consumer demand.
- So that the organisation will not hold a position that is vague and unclear. Consumers must know what the organisation is selling or trying to achieve.
- So that the organisation will not be in a position where no one knows.

(4 × 2) (8)

2.4 2.4.1 Sales – sales increase gradually as more and more consumers make repeat purchases.

2.4.2 Profit – profits rise as sales increase and as less costs are being experienced.

2.4.3 Competition – competitors now decide to enter the market.

2.4.4 Costs – costs associated with the product decline because more products are being sold and the organisation is now experiencing economy of scale.

(4 × 1) (4)

2.5 2.5.1 National market consist of organisations that trade in their home countries.

2.5.2 Local market refers to organisations that trade within their own town and neighbourhood.

2.5.3 The international market consists of trade between countries all over the world.

(3 × 2) (6)

2.6 2.6.1 ICT industry – computers and cell phones

2.6.2 Automotive industry – motor vehicles and parts

2.6.3 Agri-processing – agricultural products like flour, mealie meal

(3 × 1) (3)

2.7 Demand is the amount of products and services that consumers are willing and able to buy at a certain price. (1 × 2) (2)

[30]

QUESTION 3

3.1 3.1.1

- The report must be neat and easy to understand.
- Keep the writing simple. Do not try to impress management by using complicated terms and long sentences.
- Use business language. Do not use slang.
- Make sure that the report covers all the information that management would want to know.
- The content of the report must flow logically.
- Make enough copies of the report so that every person who attends the presentation can have a copy. (Any 5 × 1) (5)

3.1.2

- Research information is used by management to make better decisions.
- Management can plan better and develop an effective and competitive marketing strategy.
- Research information helps management to understand the markets in which they do business.
- Research information helps management to understand why problems occur.
- Research information can be used to predict the future.
- Research information helps managers to monitor the market position of the organisation and its products. (3 × 1) (3)

3.1.3 Raw data is the data as it is received from the interviewer or observer. (2)

3.1.4 Raw data can be in the form of:

- Answers on a questionnaire.
- Remarks from observers.
- Reports about information that was found in secondary sources. (3 × 1) (3)

3.2 3.2.1 Personal context – refers to the personal circumstances of the consumers in the market.

3.2.2 Organisational context – refers to the circumstances of the specific organisation in the market.

3.2.3 Socio-economic context – is a combination of social and economic circumstances. It is made up of things such as the language people speak, how much money they earn, in which area they live and their living standards.

(3 × 2) (6)

3.3 3.3.1 customers
3.3.2 consumers
3.3.3 customers

(3 × 2) (6)

3.4
- Human resources
- Management policies
- How decisions are made (3 × 1) (3)

3.5 Is a process where the organisation examines all the internal and external elements to see whether they are helping the business to achieve success? (1 × 2) (2)

[30]

QUESTION 4

4.1 4.1.1 Behavioural segmentation divides consumers according to their knowledge, attitude, use and responses.

4.1.2 Psychographic segmentation divides consumers according to their psychological and demographic characteristics.

4.1.3 Demographic segmentation divides consumers according to their demographics.

4.1.4 Geodemographic segmentation divides consumers according to their demographics and lifestyle.

(4 × 2) (8)

4.2
- Manufacturing business – a business that makes new products out of raw materials to sell.
- Service business – a business that makes money from providing a service to consumers. (2 × 2) (4)

4.3 4.3.1 To satisfy their own needs.

4.3.2 To make new products to sell. To help them deliver their services.

4.3.3 Mostly other businesses.

4.3.4 Just enough for the group to use. Small amounts.

4.3.5 Bigger amounts. Enough for the business.

4.3.6 For themselves and other individuals.

4.3.7 For the group.

(7 × 1) (7)

4.4 4.4.1 customers
4.4.2 influencers
4.4.3 buyers
4.4.4 decision makers
4.4.5 users

(5 × 1) (5)

4.5 4.5.1 New task buying – this type of buying happens when this organisation has never bought the products or service before.

4.5.2 Straight rebuy – the organisation will simply buy the same product again and again because they like it and it works well.

4.5.3 Modified rebuy – the organisation buys the same type of product they have always bought, but with small differences.

(3 × 2) (6)
[30]

QUESTION 5

5.1
- Market segment is a part of the overall market that consists of consumers with similar characteristics and needs.
- Target market is the market segment with similar characteristics or needs that an organisation decides to aim its products and services at. (2 × 2) (4)

5.2 5.2.1 Multi-segment market
5.2.2 Single-segment market
5.2.3 Mass market

(3 × 2) (6)

5.3
- product
- service that goes with the product
- the image of the organisation
- personnel (3 × 1) (3)

5.4
- Price
- Place
- Promotion
- Product (4 × 1) (4)

5.5 5.5.1 Ergonomic dangers refers to the way in which the design of the equipment and furniture affects the way that people work. (2)

5.5.2
- Tools lying around, where people can trip and fall over them or walk into them.
- Damaged electrical cables such as the cables of computers, fridges which can cause fires.
- Stairs which are wet or where there is insufficient lighting on the stairs, so that people slip and fall.
- Things standing or lying around in corridors, where people can walk into them and knock them over. (Any 2 × 2) (4)

5.5.3
- Make sure that staff takes regular rest breaks.
- Limit noise as far as possible.
- Check that all areas are well lit.
- When floors are being cleaned, put up signs to indicate they are wet.
- Do not leave loose cables lyinge around. (Any 3 × 1) (3)

5.5.4
- Natural or biological dangers
- Dangerous working conditions
- Chemical dangers
- Ergonomic dangers (4)

[30]

TOTAL SECTION B: 120
GRAND TOTAL: 150

Copyright reserved