QUESTION 6: THE KHOIKHOI AND THE CAPE

Read Source D and answer the questions.

SOURCE D: Krotoa

Krotoa was a young Khoikhoi woman who lived in the household of Jan van Riebeeck from about 1652. She learnt to speak Dutch and Portuguese and became an interpreter between the Dutch and the Khoikhoi during trade and talks. Later she married Pieter van Meerhof, a Danish surgeon. After his death she was treated badly by the colonists and was sent to Robben Island, where she died in 1674.

6.1 What was Krotoa's main role? (2)

6.2 Name TWO languages that Krotoa learnt. (2)

6.3 Why was an interpreter important for trade between the Dutch and the Khoikhoi? (2)

6.4 What do you think the way Krotoa was treated at the end of her life tells us about the colony? (2)

6.5 Why did the Dutch set up a refreshment station at the Cape in 1652? (2)

6.6 Give TWO reasons why conflict developed between the Khoikhoi and the Dutch settlers. (2)

6.7 How did the smallpox epidemic of 1713 affect the Khoikhoi? (2)

6.8 Give ONE way in which the Khoikhoi resisted losing their land and cattle. (1)

6.9 Why do you think Krotoa is remembered today? (2)
