higher education & training

Department:
Higher Education and Training
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

MARKING GUIDELINE

NATIONAL CERTIFICATE (VOCATIONAL)

CLIENT SERVICE AND HUMAN RELATIONS
NQF LEVEL 4

18 NOVEMBER 2019

This marking guideline consists of 9 pages.

Copyright reserved

QUESTION 1

1.1 1.1.1 Training needs analysis
1.1.2 Training
1.1.3 Individual constraint
1.1.4 Company constraint
1.1.5 Feedback
1.1.6 Job satisfaction
1.1.7 Review
1.1.8 Paper and pen test/written test
1.1.9 Policy
1.1.10 Job description

(10 × 1) (10)

1.2
- It creates open lines of communication.
- It creates an open relationship.
- It leads to happiness and satisfaction of staff.
- It leads to the feeling in employees that they are valued and that their problems and opinions are important.
- Employees will be motivated and they will try to perform even better to satisfy their manager.
- Employees will enter the training programme believing that it will be useful.
- They will transfer what they have learned during the training back into their jobs. (5)

1.3
- Job variation
- Assistant
- Internship
- Lectures
- Coaching
- Computer
- Assisted training
- In-service training
- Learnership
- External training (Any 7 × 1) (7)

1.4 1.4.1
- He is an excellent driver.
- He gets along well with clients. (2)

1.4.2
- He is unable to use the GPS system.
- He is unable to find most of the addresses of his clients.
- He wastes clients' time as he keeps on stopping to ask for directions. (3)

1.4.3 Lack of training/The manager has not trained Jerome on the use of the GPS. (1)

Copyright reserved

1.5.1

QUESTIONNAIRE	OBSERVATION
• Easy to obtain a large amount of information in a short space of time. • It provides a range of information about needs, problems, potential problems, employee perceptions, attitudes and opinion. • One can reach many people in a short time. • It is less expensive. • It yields data that can be easily summarised and reported. (Any 2 × 1)	• One can obtain first-hand information of the job and how it is performed. • It can deliver highly relevant information on training needs at the point where the impact of well-specified training will best be felt. (2 × 1)

(4)

1.5.2 Job Analysis✓ (1)
The manager must break down the job into a hierarchy of tasks and sub-tasks ✓and then define the performance standards.✓ Get an expert to verify the description of the job as well as the sequence of the tasks.✓ (Any 1) (2)

Interview✓ (1)
The manager communicates directly with the person performing the task. ✓Pre-set list if structured questions are used.✓It is a very flexible technique in that it can be formal or informal and on a one-to one or group basis. ✓
(Any 1) (2)

1.6 Micro level needs refer to training for just one individual.✓ It is determined by comparing the individual's performance with the required standard of competence of a job or task.✓

Macro level training needs refer to the specific requirements of an organisation✓ and it may include training about the organisation's mission, new policies, organisational changes or regulations.✓
(2 × 2) (4)
[40]

QUESTION 2

2.1
- Employees can respond to the situations appropriately.
- Qualified staff can administer first aid to injured people in an adequate and timely manner in order to save lives.
- The emergency response team can respond immediately with the correct equipment.
- The wrong actions may be taken if a situation is not correctly identified.
- It reduces asset loss and minimises time lost.
- It reduces environmental impact. (Any 5 × 1) (5)

2.2 2.2.1 False,✓ an event that happens unexpectedly and causes damage or injury is called an accident.✓

2.2.2 True

2.2.3 False,✓ untrained staff are not allowed to administer first aid and can cause further injuries.✓

2.2.4 True

2.2.5 False,✓ they should wait so that they can hand over the injured person to medical personnel.✓

2.2.6 False,✓ emergency information and telephone numbers should be displayed where all employees can see it and not in the manager's office.✓ (10)

2.3 2.3.1

- Activate the alarm.
- Notify the fire department.
- Use fire extinguishers if it's a minor fire.
- Let staff evacuate the building.
- If trapped, stay close to the window to avoid toxic air.
- Assist people who are in danger if it is safe to do so.
- Move to the nominated evacuation area. (7)

2.3.2

- Alert people in the immediate area of the spill.
- Note as many details of the container as possible.
- Move contaminated people to a safety shower or eyewash area.
- Remove contaminated clothing and flush exposed areas for 15 minutes under cold running water.
- Secure the area and put up danger signs.
- Evacuate the area if necessary. (6)

2.4

- Make the area safe.
- Check for responsiveness of the casualty.
- Call for assistance if the casualty is not responsive.
- Check the casualty's airway.
- Asses the breathing of the casualty.
- Check the casualty's pulse.
- Control obvious bleeding.
- Control the casualty's temperature. (Any 4 × 1) (4)

2.5 2.5.1 Resuscitation
2.5.2 Hypoglycaemia
2.5.3 Oxygen
2.5.4 Cherry-red colour
2.5.5 Choking
2.5.6 Raise
2.5.7 Inhaled
2.5.8 Convulsion (8)

Copyright reserved

(8 × 1)

[40]

QESTION 3

3.1.1

	HEART ATTACK	STROKE
Definition	(a) Pressure or squeezing sensation✓ behind the breast bone✓. (2)	(b) A rupture of a blood vessel in the brain✓ or the formation of a clot in the brain✓ that delays blood circulation.✓ (Any 2)
Symptoms	(c) • Sweating✓ • Nausea✓ • Feeling of impending death✓ (Any 2)	(d) • Unequal size of the pupils✓ • Slurred speech✓ • Unconsciousness✓ • Paralysis✓ • Weakness in one side of the body✓ • Difficulty in breathing✓ • Difficulty in swallowing✓ • Loss of bladder and bowel control✓ (Any 2)

(8)

3.1.2 A – Open the airway✓an obstructed airway can quickly lead to respiratory arrest and death.✓ (2 x 1)
B – Breathe for the casualty✓to inflate the lungs and allow blood to be oxygenated✓. This is known as rescue breathing✓ (Any 2 x 1)
C – Circulate the blood by compressing the chest✓. The combination of rescue breathing and external chest compressions is called cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.✓ (2 x 1) (6)

3.2
- Lack of breathing
- Unconsciousness
- Severe bleeding (3)

3.3
- To save lives
- To prevent the injuries from getting worse
- To relieve pain, anxiety and discomfort (3)

3.4
- A complaint that is not handled correctly can cause a lot of damage to an organisation or company.
- The client will feel that the organisation does not regard his/her problem as important enough to be handled promptly and by the right person.
- Clients will feel unhappy and decide to go elsewhere.
- Unhappy clients will bad-mouth the organisation and that will damage the image of the organisation.
- Clients will feel less valued. (6)

- Complaints which are referred to the wrong personnel, will not be attended to correctly.
- If clients leave the business, it will have a decline in profit. (Any 6 × 1)

3.5
- Feedback from clients
- Appraisal by management
- Feedback from co-workers
- Self-evaluation (4)

3.6
3.6.1	I
3.6.2	H
3.6.3	D
3.6.4	G
3.6.5	J
3.6.6	A
3.6.7	B
3.6.8	L
3.6.9	K
3.6.10	E

(10 × 1) (10)
[40]

QUESTION 4

4.1.1 To find out if the client is satisfied with the information or service that she/he received.
To find out if the clients complaint is completely resolved.
To find out if further action is required. (Any 2 × 1) (2)

4.1.2
- Fax
- E-mail
- Letters
- Web charts
- Telephone
- Contacts
- SMS (Any 5 × 1) (5)

4.1.3
- When an employee is unable to resolve the complaint.
- When an employee does not have the authority to deal with the complaint or make a decision.
- When an employee does not have the skill or knowledge to deal with the compliant or fix the problem.
- When an employee does not understand the complaint.
- When an employee does not understand the client or the client does not understand the employee.
- When a client requests to speak to a more senior person. (Any 5 × 1) (5)

4.1.4
- In order that all employees will handle complaints in the same manner.
- The procedures indicate the best method to use to deal with the complaint. (2)

Copyright reserved

- In order that clients will be provided with the same treatment from different employees. (Any 2 × 1)

4.2
- It indicates that you are interested in what someone is saying.
- It indicates that you are giving your full attention to the person you are speaking to. (2)

4.3
- Always display good manners.
- Show that you are enthusiastic with a genuine interest in the client.
- Greet the client in a friendly manner with a smile on your face and in your voice.
- Ask how you can be of assistance.
- Find solutions to any problem the client may have.
- Make sure your body language matches what you are saying. (Any 5 × 1) (5)

4.4
- Random customer survey
- Web-based survey
- Company-wide attitude survey
- Target account survey
- Telephone survey
- Exit customer survey
- Lost account survey (Any 6 × 1) (6)

4.5 4.5.1
- It is confidential.
- It can focus on a particular issue.
- It can be directed at a senior executive. (3)

4.5.2
- They can provide rich feedback in a short space of time.
- They can focus on a particular issue. (2)

4.6 Such a person can:
- work harmoniously with other people
- evaluate and accept responsibility
- identify methods of responding to conflict
- work in a team (4)

4.7 A client must be able to trust an establishment with any information that is provided by the client. Confidentiality means that you respect the client's privacy. ✓
If the travel agency is providing travel arrangements for the client they are not allowed to give out information to other clients or employees. ✓ The information such as the telephone number of the client or what the client is booking should remain confidential. ✓
Under no circumstances should an employee disclose information such as the financial standing or credit worthiness of a client. ✓
If anyone requests information from the employee it must be referred to the manager and permission must gained from the client before any information is shared. ✓ (Any 4 × 1) (4)

[40]

QUESTION 5

5.1
- The customer is giving the management of the organisation a valuable opportunity to learn from their mistakes and improve the efficiency of the business.
- Customers' complaints help management by showing where problems exist.
- Complaints allow management to solve clients' problems.
- Clients' complaints help companies to keep in touch with new trends and developments.
- It helps the organisation to stay ahead of the competition.
- It enables the organisation to provide clients with what they want.
- It ensures good customer service. (5)

5.2 5.2.1
- Listen to the client carefully.
- Offer an apology about the inconvenience even if it is not his fault.
- Empathise with the client.
- Maintain a professional posture.
- Stand his ground and not step back if the client invades his personal space. (5)

5.2.2
- Apologise
- Offer an alternative trip on a ferry
- Offer a free ticket/voucher/bottle of wine or bunch of flowers (3)

5.2.3
- Listen to the client without interrupting.
- Ask questions to gain understanding.
- Thank the client for bringing it under his/her attention.
- Show empathy and understanding for how the client feels.
- Apologise that the client had to have an unhappy experience.
- Look at both sides of the story.
- Tell the client that he/she will follow up and take the necessary action.
- Discuss the matter privately with Mondli.
- Make sure that he/she has a clear understanding of the details before making a decision. (Any 4 × 1) (4) 5.3

- To feel important
- To be recognised
- To feel appreciated
- To feel in control
- To feel safe and secure
- To feel his/her needs are identified correctly (Any 5 × 1) (5)

Copyright reserved

5.4
- Target market
- Nature and cost of the medium
- Nature of the product
- Lifespan of the medium
- Flexibility of the medium
- Budget
- Distribution of the medium (Any 5 × 1) (5)

5.5
- A personal medium
- Choice between regional or national coverage
- No literacy needed
- Habitual listening
- Cheap and easy to own (3)

5.6
- He/She can promote the products and services effectively.
- He/She can answer any questions related to the products or services.
- He/She can assist clients to choose the right product or service.
- He/She can gain clients' respect and trust.
- He/She can provide good customer service.
- He/She can save time by providing a satisfactory service in a shorter time.

(Any 5 × 1) (5)

5.7
- Customer frustrations will be minimised and this will lead to happy customers.
- Staff members will be happy because they will have the satisfaction of resolving clients' complaints and will see satisfied customers leave the shop.
- It will improve service excellence.
- Clients will be more at ease referring other clients to the business.
- It builds a positive reputation of the industry. (Any 5 × 1) (5)

[40]

TOTAL: 200

Copyright reserved